Small businesses are leaving an astounding amount of money on the table – this training is about showing up and taking your share!

The federal government alone spent almost $250B with small businesses in 2018! More money would be set aside for small businesses, if they only showed up. The story is the same on the city, state, and corporate levels. RightSource Services has partnered with the LA SBDC to train established small businesses, to participate in the incredible procurement opportunities, available through corporate and government entities. The training takes companies from identifying opportunities, all the way to responding to their first request.

The webinar gives an overview of the opportunities available and the training provided by RightSource Services and the LA SBDC to compete effectively and grow your business.

RightSource follows that up with a cohort-structured, 6-class series with workshops to get procurement-ready businesses through the certification, and registration processes, and on to actually responding to a contract solicitation.
